The report that Mr. Cleveland may suggest the name of a candidate, or interfere in any way in the Senatorial contest, is disselieved by well posted Democrats. Mr. Cleveland has kept his hands off local and State politics all through the campaign? Neither has be said a word since the election to indicate his preference in the matter, and those who know him say there is no reason to believe that he will do so.

In the diocese to sign the letter. Very Rev. Father McNulty protested, and was compelled by the Bishop to take his seat.

Then Father Corrigan arose and solemnly declared the letter to be an implied insult to every priest in the diocese and to the Bishon. Bishop.

At this point Bishop Wigger interrupted Father Corrigan, and peremptority adjourned the Conference, saying:

"I order you all to leave the hall at once! Leave the hall! Do you hear?"

The Conference broke up in great confusion. It is thought that Bishop Wigger will suspend Father Corrigan, in which case Mgr. Fatolli, the Pope's representative to the Archbishops' Conference, will be asked to investigate.

them quite a hustling when it came to bucking the centre, although the Quakers weren in it in sprinting round the end or interier-

Some reports from Cambridge, the home of the Harvard kickers, are as indigo-hued as the ultra-marine blue pennant which Yale proudly boasts. They tell of the poor work crowd and say the boys have teen over-trained. Now they have stopped practising and will try to recuperate with a view of going to the post Saturday good and atrong and fit. done in practise play by the crimson-jerseyed going to the post Saturday good and strong and fit.

In some inside quarters in Cambridge, however, is a seeing that there is quite a little surprise in store for Yale, and that she must not fondly imagine she has such a walkover after all. The "tip" in Cambridge is that the Harvard eleven of to-day is by no images that body of hustiers who have net Cornell, Amberst and inferior teams, but instead a different collection of beery bruisers who will inght like Thracians of old, who only confessed deseat with death.

If it is Harvard's ball at the beginning of play the Cambridge contingent will leap for joy, for they are sure the Reds will hold it and do some powerful rushing along toward Yale's goal. Harvard has a unique V which her shouters declare is a corker, and one that will be found of great assistance in keeping the ball in Yale's territory.

Emmons is under the weather with a bad ankle and may not play, a fact deplored by liarvard, as he is a magnificent player and of invaluable aid to the team. The report that tapt. Trafford and Coach Cumnock have quarrelied is denied in Cambridge, it being said they have simply made a few changes in the style of coaching.

Yale finished practically their hard preliminary work yesterday, and is now content with easy trick plays.

3.00 r m Last Tuesday night ave Italian laborers, who have been working on the railroads to Montana, came to this city on their way to Italy. They went to 195 Worth street and sugaged bunks for the night. They told Cavallo that they had valuables about then and he told them they would be perfectly safe.

A little later he came in and took the lamp away sgainst the protest of the fodgers. Later keep said he came in the dark room on the protest of looking for a lost article.

In the morning three of the men missed some of their belongings. Antonio Pasquale missed $700, Lucco Masterian) a passage to Italy and watch, and Niccole Machelo some money and two razors.
